APPLICATION FOR A LICENSE

To Sell Liquor In Kurtz Filed With
The Commissioners.
A Surprise.

CITIZENS FILE REMONSTRANCE

Against License Being Granted.—Did
Not Hear of Application
Until Late.

The county commissioners began active work for the year at the session Tuesday morning. John Turnmail who succeeded John Downing the first of the year was on hand to begin earning his salary.

The most important matter up for consideration was the application of Grover C. Davis for a license to sell liquor in Kurtz. A remonstrance against granting the license by Wm. Armbruster, Wm. F. Edwards, G. S. Finkle, Wm. Schafer, D. F. Mitchell, D. E. Sims, W. H. Bowee and D. Fleetwood, was received. It was alleged that Davis is not a proper person to be granted a license.

The case was set for a formal hearing Thursday. There is a strong opposition in the township against the granting of a license and there is considerable feeling over the case. It is stated that few persons in the township knew that an application would be made until it was too late to circulate a remonstrance to prevent the granting of the license under the provisions of the remonstrance law. It was alleged that the application was published in a paper but little read in the township and as a consequence the tax-payers did not know of the publication.

Died Near Toledo.
Frank Daler who formerly lived in Seymour will be buried Wednesday morning at Toledo, Ohio, he having died at the home of relatives near that city.

Mrs. Daler has been at the home of her mother in this city and will go to attend the funeral.

Mr. Daler was in ill health and had gone to the home of his father near Toledo to receive treatment and to lessen expenses. Mrs. Daler received a letter from him Christmas in which he stated that he was better. She had mailed a letter to her husband Monday evening before going to church.

A Theatre Car.

A theatre party will go from here to Indianapolis to see "The Man From Home" at the Murat theatre Thursday night. A special theatre car that night will leave the city after the play and those desiring to attend the play are asked to leave their names at the Andrews drug store. "The Man From Home" is an Indiana play with all its scenes laid in Sorrento, Italy. Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson wrote the play in Italy but gave it the atmosphere and spirit of Kokomo and Terre Haute. Daniel Voorhees Pike, played by Mr. Hodge, is from Kokomo and quite naturally he is a lawyer by profession and destiny. Mr. Hodge in person is tall, angular and blonde, not unlike in many ways the famous Indiana statesmen. In preparing for this role Mr. Hodge spent several weeks in Terre Haute and consulted with John E. Lamb, Senator Voorhees' law partner, and others, with a view to making the character reflect the Voorhees' personality and manner, but this idea was abandoned and only the name was used.

Rev. L. A. Winn closed his year's work at Vassar Sunday night. He has given up the work there and has also resigned his charges at Driftwood, Zelma and in Clark county in order to devote all of his time to evangelistic work. He leaves Wednesday evening for Georgia to spend several months. His work there affords the largest field and offers the best financial returns of any field he has ever had and the people there are anxious for him to move to Georgia. However he has not made his mind up to do that and will retain his residence here and his family will remain in Seymour for several months at least.

Miss Irene Vogel has returned home from Jeffersonville after attending the wedding of a friend, Miss Margaret Miers to Alonzo Tittell. They were married at the Catholic Cathedral at Louisville by Rev. Father Rock. After the ceremony, a reception was given at the bride's home on Market street.

Constipation is the cause of many ailments and disorders that make life miserable. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, keep your bowels regular and you will avoid these diseases. For sale by all dealers.

Archie Breitfield entertained a number of friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Breitfeld Sunday night at a watch party. The evening was spent with music and enjoyable games.

P. J. Sheron, who was injured Sunday evening at Cincinnati and brought to his home here yesterday afternoon, passed a restless night but is some better today.

HOADLEY'S

REPORTS CONFIRMED.

Appointments and Changes on the B. & O. S.W.

Master Mechanic Gill has confirmed the list of appointments as unofficially announced several days ago. The changes are to be effective at once and when work is resumed after the holiday vacation the new men will be found in new places. The changes are:

Luke Kennedy becomes general foreman of the entire machine shops, with Al Miller as his assistant.

W. T. Joyce, who has been working at the shops in the freight car department, takes up the foremanship of the passenger car department made vacant by Al Linkenback leaving Washington for Flora, Ill.

E. S. McCafferty, now drop put foreman in the round house, goes to Seymour to succeed Walter Harris, Mr. Harris goes to Storrs to relieve William Keller who is sent to Flora, Ill. to relieve Charles Day who will come here to take the place made vacant by Mr. McCafferty.

It is said that two well known local workmen have been offered foremanships in the Mount Claire shops, but these men are hesitating in giving an answer in acceptance.—Washington Herald.

Bad Runaway.

As Emmett Johnson was bringing his brother-in-law, Silby Lewis and family from his home east of town to Seymour Sunday to get a train for their home in Indianapolis, the mules became frightened at a road scraper at the side of the road, near the Peter Ahl place and started to run. Before they had gone a great distance the buggy struck a telephone pole and threw Mr. Lewis and family out, dislocating his shoulder, breaking Seth Lewis' arm and cutting the face of one little daughter. Mrs. Lewis and two smaller children were uninjured. They were brought to Seymour where they received medical attention and returned to their home Monday.

Fish Seines.

A year ago the state fish and game commissioner issued permits at a cost of $1 permitting any person so desiring to own a fish seine and use it under certain conditions.

However these permits were later discontinued, but those issued were good for the year 1911. Now appear deputy game wardens in some parts of the state who are demanding the surrender of the seines and also the permits. The date of the permit having expired any one now having a seine has it illegally under the law, although bought under a permit issued by the state.

For the coming year in your business as well as in your personal relations, we wish to you and all those connected with you, the fullest possible measure of Health, Happiness and Success. Domestic Steam Laundry.

PAYMENT OF TWO LOANS ORDERED

By The City Council At a Special Meeting Held Monday Night.

ALL UNEXPENDED BALANCES

In Different Funds Were Ordered Turned Back Into General Fund.

The city council held a special meeting Monday evening with all members excepting Misch and Buse present. It was the annual meeting which is held on the first Monday night in the new year to deal with city finances.

A resolution which was introduced by Sherman Day was adopted and which provided for the payment of two temporary loans. One was $4,000 to the Seymour National Bank and the other was $6,000 to the First National Bank. The interest due on the first loan was $66.67 and on the second $56. The money for the payment of the loans was secured by the semi-annual distribution of taxes made by the county auditor last week.

A resolution introduced by Davison was also adopted. It provided that all unexpended balances in various funds for the year 1911 be turned back into the general fund. This action is always taken the first of each year.

W. R. Day called attention to a bad section of Lynn street between Oak and Laurel. The street commissioner was instructed to put cinders or ashes on it.

The mayor submitted a report of the fees and fines collected by him during the past year and which had been paid to the treasurer. The amount was $590.

At the last meeting of the council the mayor appointed the entire council a committee to go over the ground west of the city to settle upon a plan for a sewer outlet. No one had called the committee together and as a consequence no action had been taken. Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock was fixed as a time for the meeting and examination of the territory. A report will be made at the meeting Thursday night and it is possible the route for the outlet may be finally determined at that time.

Holiday Dance.

The holiday committee of the country club composed of Joe Swope and Glen Bozell gave a dance in Society hall Monday night in honor of the many college students who are at home for the holidays. Music was furnished by Kenneth Montgomery of Hanover and Charles Eldridge of this city. The hall was decorated in keeping with the season. It proved to be one of the most delightful social events of the holidays. Lunch was served during the evening.

Great Cost.

In the war against tuberculosis $14,500,000 was spent during the year 1911 throughout the country, according to a statement issued Monday by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. This large sum is practically the same as last year's total.

Of the sum spent $11,800,000 went directly toward the treatment of consumptives in sanitarians and hospitals, and the remainder to anti-tuberculosis associations, dispensaries, open air schools, boards of health and other agencies.

New York leads all the other states of the Union in the amount of money contributed toward the war. With the slogan "no uncared for tuberculosis in 1915," $3,550,000 was raised in the state during the year. Pennsylvania is second with the contribution of $2,265,000, and Massachusetts third with $1,108,000. Colorado, Ohio, California, Connecticut, New Mexico, Illinois and Maryland are named.

For the year 1912 appropriations of more than $10,000,000 have already been made by State Legislatures and other public bodies.

Not a Man In The House.

At a New Year party given to the members of the Court of Honor lodge and their families last night, a comedy drama was presented in creditable manner by the members of the entertainment committee. The play was entitled, "Not a Man in the House." Anna Kasperline as Mrs. Bings, had lost her first and only husband and had become a man-hater and was entertaining a number of her nieces but not one was allowed to have her beau come on that evening. Carrie Hauersperger as "Aunt Belinda", Blanche Downs as "Kate", the Irish servant, Bertha Staudt as "Lucy Rider" and Grace Brown as "Jessie Wray", by clever scheming pulled the wool over the old aunt's eyes and let their beaux call on that eventful evening. It was amusing and each one in the cast gave her part well.

After a social hour a banquet was served.

Directors Elected.

The stockholders of the Cooperative Building and Loan Association held the annual meeting at its office Monday evening. The annual report of the secretary and treasurer were presented showing that the Association is now in good condition. Three directors were elected to serve for the ensuing three years: Chas. H. Cordes, J. E. Graham and Frank Spanagel.

Leap Year Party.

The first Leap Year party of the season was given last night by Miss Josephine Steinkamp in honor of her guest, Miss Etta Voeltz of Columbus.

The young ladies called for their gentlemen friends and everything was done to carry out the leap year idea.

After games and an enjoyable evening, refreshments were served.

Baptist Social.

The young people of the First Baptist Church will give a "Can" social at the church this evening. An enjoyable program has been prepared. Everybody, old and young, is invited. Come if you can; have as good a time as you can; stay as long as you can.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

R. A. LONG, BENEFACTOR.
I am going to give you some rather unusual advice.

Make money.
Make it honestly. Make it and give it away.

Say what you will, money as our society is constituted at present is a tremendous power for good as well as evil.

There's R. A. Long.
He is a Kansas City millionaire who has made his money largely in buying timberlands. And he is giving it away with lavish hand. He helps to endow colleges, sends out missionaries and gives to churches and charities.

For instance:

When it was proposed to build a hospital in Kansas City, R. A. Long said,
"Let's make it one of the largest and best in the world." And he went down in his pocket and gave about half the proposed cost of the big institution.

Said Mr. Long, "I make it one of the conditions that one-third of the beds of this hospital shall be free to the poor."

Is not that fine?
Make money—honestly—and give it away because of the world's need.

Colleges, churches, hospitals, homes for the friendless and little children, humane societies, night schools, associated charities—all these worthy causes make an appeal that only may be met with money.

Make money—honestly—and give it away because you can thus multiply yourself.

One time E. A. Nye is just E. A.
Nye. But one thousand times R. A.
Long is a thousand R. A. Longs. And a thousand R. A. Longs is a thousand times E. A. Nye—and then some.

Do you see?

Make money—honestly—and give it away because of the happiness it will bring you.

We are all of us shut up to this limitation... To be happy we must give, either of self or money, and the more we give the happier we may be. He who is stingy cannot be happy. He is not built that way. Nor can the generous man who sees the world's need and is unable to supply it be as happy as he would like to be.

Make money—honestly.
Make it and give it away to the cause that needs—because when you die down in your long, last sleep—

All you can hold in your dead cold hand is what you have given away.

ON Dec. 25, fifty years ago, the Federal troops in front of Washington celebrated their first Christmas in camp. Many of the tents were embowered with evergreens. War prisoners of both contending armies were anxiously awaiting the result of negotiations on foot for their exchange. This was the first general holiday by the troops on either side. Thanksgiving in 1861 was not a national holiday in the north. The governors of Maine and Massachusetts had issued a Thanksgiving proclamation and the day was observed in the usual way by the Maine and Massachusetts troops in the field. In 1861, however, soldiering was such a new experience that the men were not in a mood to make merry in camp. All mous in the Federal navy as the Monitor. It was just 100 days from the laying of the keel plate of the vessel to her launching and christening. Three of the leading manufacturing establishments of New York were working day and night on the different parts.

Ericsson was an enthusiast, but had had difficulty in getting the navy officials to order him to build his novel engine of war. It was at first rejected, but by a trick Ericsson was brought before the board and became so warmed up by objections of the officials that he exclaimed, "Gentlemen, after what I have said I consider it to be your duty to build the vessel before I leave this room." He was invited to call again at 1 o'clock. He did so and, after an hour's argument, was again dismissed and asked to call again at 3 o'clock. The amiable Swede did so spirited action off the mouth of the Mississippi between several blockaders and the Confederate ironclad Mississippi. The ram got in a stroke which sent the Federal ships about their business, but was so badly damaged herself that she had to retreat. Some of the Federal ships grounded and were attacked by wooden river boats which the Confederates had converted into warships. One of the ships was abandoned and the rest got away. The blockaders on the gulf coast were very vigilant. About the close of the first year they were organized into two divisions, one called the East Gulf squadron and the other the West Gulf squadron.

The Warships' Attacks on the Coast.

The two successes of the navy in battle during the year were not gained by vessels assigned to duty as blockaders. They were won by naval expeditions fitted out specially to make conquests on the coast. On Aug. 28-29 the fleet commanded by Commodore Stringham sailed up to the North Carolina coast at Hatteras and bombarded Forts Hatteras and Clark, which guarded the channel to Pamlico sound. By a clever stroke in sailing he brought his vessels into position so that they concentrated their fire upon the forts, but escaped the missiles which the Confederate guns hurled at them. This was the first naval victory of importance in the war. It was also the first success at arms of importance which the north could boast.

A few weeks later a still greater expedition under Commodore S. F. Dupont attacked the forts at the entrance to Port Royal sound, South Carolina, using very much the same tactics that won the day for Stringham at Hatteras. Dupont so handled his ships that they suffered very little from the guns at the forts which they attacked. These were two in number—Forts Walker and Beauregard. They stood on opposite sides of the very narrow channel.

Dupont's success at Port Royal led immediately to the capture of Beaufort, an important seaport. From this base Dupont explored the coast of South Carolina and Georgia to the south and occupied several points of strategy which would serve the Federals in a future attack upon Savannah.

Confederate Victories on Land.

On land the Confederates easily bore off the honors of the year in substantial results from fighting excepting in western Virginia.

General Beauregard's stroke in capturing Fort Sumter was the beginning. That took place in April. Two months after that General J. B. Magruder repulsed at Big Bethel, Va., a Federal force which had been sent out from Fortress Monroe by General B. F. Butler. The Federals were advancing in the direction of Richmond, but did not intend to strike that point. However, Magruder was a sort of long distance defender of Richmond, and his victory led to great rejoicing in the Confederate capital.

In a little over a month after Big Bethel General Beauregard won another triumph which was pleasing to the south, at Manassas. It is true that the Confederates did not follow up their advantage at Bull Run and capture Washington, distant only twenty miles. But that was not the game which Beauregard was playing that day. He was attacked by a strong force which had marched out of Washington intending to go straight across Virginia to Richmond. Since Beauregard held up this march when it was only a day old he deserved the credit for victory.

In another month at Wilson's Creek, Mo., General Ben McCulloch with a Confederate force defeated a Federal army which General Nathaniel Lyon led against him. Lyon's object was to prevent the Confederates under McCulloch and General Sterling Price from getting a foothold in southwestern Missouri. Lyon made a good fight and was himself killed in a charge. His force was outnumbered and was compelled to retreat. This battle was sometimes called "the Bull Run of the west."

In another month the affair at Ball's Bluff, Va., added to the Federal disasters of the year on land. There was nothing important at issue at Ball's Bluff but the stunning repulse of the Federal force so close to the main lines of the Federal army and to Washington itself, was a victory which the Confederates naturally made the most of.

On July 11 the Confederates lost the decisive battle for western Virginia at Rich Mountain and on the 13th, Carrick Ford. These two actions virtually gave the Federals the control of western Virginia throughout the war.

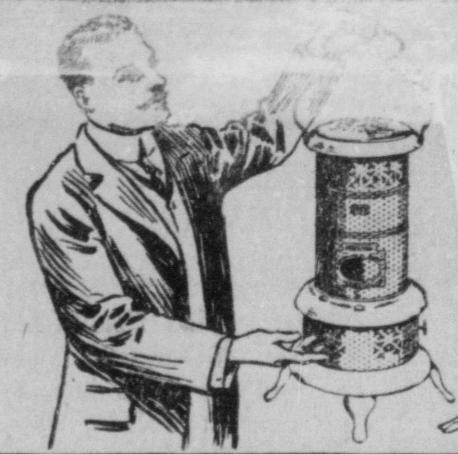

The Armies In Winter Quarters.

The closing week of December was free from exciting war enterprise. There was a skirmish in Kentucky and another in Missouri. On the 28th of the month at Sacramento, Ky., Nathan Bedford Forrest, famous Confederate raiding chief, made his debut at the head of a cavalry column. At Mount Zion, Mo., the Third Missouri cavalry and Birge's sharpshooters defeated a Confederate force estimated at 900 men.

Naval Victories of 1861.

But for the navy the northern side would have ended the year with little cause for rejoicing over its martial achievement up to that time. It began to blockade the chief southern seaports as soon as hostilities were declared. All the ships in foreign waters were ordered home for this purpose, but as late as July the foreign governments were disposed to claim that the blockade was not as effective as is required by international law. In other words, the ports were lawfully opened to commerce if neutrals were so disposed. In the United States congress itself the right to blockade any seaport was vigorously disputed.

The south, of course, claimed that the blockade was a failure. Not having a navy they made no serious attempt to make good their contention in this respect. At Galveston, in August, a Confederate shore battery fired into the blockader South Carolina. It had no other result than to cause the plucky commander of the ship to lay closer to shore and toss shells at the battery, regardless of the town behind it. In October, however, there was a

An Innovation in Oil Heaters

The Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater, with its drums enameled in turquoise, is an ornament to any room, whether in the country or city home.

No home is quite complete without a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a necessity in the fall and spring when it is too warm to start the regular heating apparatus, and too cool to be without heat. In the midst of winter it is often convenient as an auxiliary heater, as there are always some cold corners in a house.

The enameled heater always presents a nice appearance, as the enamel will not tarnish or burn off. It is not an "enameled print," but it is the same as the enamel of your cooking utensils.

The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient portable heating device you can find. An automatically-locking flame spreader prevents turning the wick high enough to smoke.

THE SOCIALISTS HARD AT WORK

Expect to Double Representation In Germany.

GOVERNMENT IS APATHETIC

Notwithstanding the constant goading of the Pan-Germans to do something to roll back Socialist flood, government has given no sign of taking any such action, while Socialists are working night and day.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—The lukewarmness of both parties in the campaign for the general election on Jan. 12 is giving way at the turn of the year to a more lively interest in the struggle. This is partly owing to a realization of the fact that the Socialist energy threatens to reap the biggest harvest of votes. The Socialists are holding thousands of meetings throughout the empire every night, while their newspapers are pushing their cause to the limit. Conservative politicians estimate that the Socialists will gain enormously at the elections, some predicting that their present representation of forty-four in the Reichstag will reach 100. The Pan-Germans are goading the government to enter the fight and support some issue which is likely to roll back the Socialist flood, but the government so far has given no sign of taking any such action.

AT IT AGAIN

Hunting Has Been Renewed at Hankow and Haynang.

Peking, Jan. 2.—The hope that the truce between the imperialists and republicans would be prolonged from Dec. 31, has been disappointed. The stern year had not closed when the republicans at Wuchang and in that neighborhood again attacked the imperial forces at Hankow and Hanyang. It is probable that the first troops to attack were not aware of the recent negotiations for peace and a national convention. These descended the river boats and began an assault on Hankow, and the other republican troops joined them.

General Li Yuan Heng, on hearing the fighting, ordered the republican troops to withdraw and the firing for the time ceased. It began again, however, and has continued intermittently. Nothing definite has been learned as to the results of the fighting, but reports from imperialist sources say the attacks were unsuccessful. These reports add that the imperialists at Hankow had placed their ammunition on trains and were preparing to quit when the fighting was reopened.

No Second Contribution.

San Francisco, Jan. 2.—Labor leaders who are under indictment in Los Angeles in connection with the Times dynamiting case will not get funds for their defense from San Francisco unions. It is not probable that union men at large will be asked to give to the defense fund after the unexpected result of the McNamara trial. In that case union men of San Francisco had contributed thousands of dollars.

Bringing McManigal Back.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—Ortiz McManigal is on his way to Indianapolis. The dynamiter whose confession led to his release from the jail at 6 o'clock last night by Under Sheriff Robert Brain McLaren, personal representative here of Detective Burns, was driven to a station east of Los Angeles, where the party boarded a train to Indiana.

Clancy Made a Confession.

Los Angeles, Jan. 2.—It has become known that Billie Clark Clancy, indicted for conspiracy in connection with the Times dynamiting case, made a confession just before the recent indictment. This confession is said to involve other labor leaders and likely leads to at least five more indictments.

Rude Aggression Interfered.

Sherman, Jan. 2.—The post of treasurer, which was made vacant by the dismissal of W. Morgan Shuster, is still unfilled. The interests which were supporting Frank Cairns, assistant of Mr. Shuster for the race, failed to get his nomination, and he apparently to Russia.

WIDOW HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Her Son and Daughter Are Also in Custody.

FOURTH MYSTERIOUS DEATH

Body of Mobile Policeman Found in Pond Near Home of His Mother-in-Law, the Widow Godau, Leads to an Investigation Which Reveals a Situation Somewhat Akin to That Presented on the Gunness Farm.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 2.—In one cell at the county jail is Mrs. Mary T. Godau, her son, Willie Green, is in another, and her daughter, Theresa Virginia Wasserleben, is in still another, charged with murder, the victim being Fred Wasserleben, husband of the latter, and for some time a member of the Mobile police department. The body of policeman's uniform was found in a pond some distance from the house in Mohawk avenue, where it had been hauled and thrown after the crime was committed. Inspection of the home after the crime disclosed blood marks on the floor of the room the man had occupied and signs of a struggle. In a bathroom was found freshly washed clothes with blood stains, and beneath the house, in a fresh made hole, other bloody effects in which the body had been wrapped before removal. Arrest of the three named followed.

Mrs. Godau confessed to killing her son-in-law, claiming he tried to assault her in his room, and after she beat him off he fired at, but missed her. He then threw his pistol on the bed and, falling on it, told her he did not care if she killed him. Seizing the weapon, she fired a bullet into his forehead. When the body fell on the floor she sent two other bullets into his body. She then claimed, after her children had gone to bed, to have tied a rope around the man's neck, dragged the body downstairs, placed it in a wagon, carted it to the pond and threw it in. Returning, she tried to wash away the tell-tale bloodstains.

Nine years ago Mrs. Godau's husband was killed on a rainy night in his home at Cottage Hill, and his body was found in a lot nearby. His life was insured. A previous husband, Charles Stein, was mysteriously killed, as was a son-in-law, all at the home of Mrs. Godau. Wasserleben had $7,000 insurance.

COST OF LIVING

May Be Investigated by an International Commission.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university, acting in accordance with a resolution adopted at one of the branch meetings of the American Economic association held here last week, today brought to the attention of the president the proposal for the creation of an international commission to study the cost of living.

This plan has been publicly endorsed by many men prominent in public life and has the support of many of the leading economists of Europe, while several members of President Taft's cabinet have approved the plan.

O. W. UNDERWOOD

Democratic Congress Leader in Danger of Surgeon's Knife.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader of the house, who has been threatened with appendicitis, is improving rapidly. Indications are now that Mr. Underwood's trouble will yield to treatment without recourse to a surgical operation.

WILLIAM R. HOLLOWAY DEAD AT INDIANAPOLIS

Prominent In the State During Civil War Period.

Indianapolis, Jan. 1.—Colonel William R. Holloway, one of the best-known men in Indiana, is dead here of pneumonia. He was born at Richmond, Ind., in 1836. His father, David Holloway, was editor of the Richmond Palladium for forty years, and prominent in Indiana affairs.

Colonel Holloway learned the printer's trade. In 1858 he married a sister of Mrs. Oliver P. Morton and was private secretary to Governor Morton during the first two years of the civil war, and took an active part in mustering in and equipping the Indiana troops for service. He was private secretary to Governor Morton during the close of his administration.

Colonel Holloway at various times was part owner of the Indianapolis Journal, and was postmaster at Indianapolis for many years. He served several years as consul general to St. Petersburg. He has not been in good health for a number of years.

COAL RIGHTS

Under Ten Thousand Acres of Land in Indiana Change Hands.

Petersburg, Ind., Jan. 1.—When 10,600 acres of coal lands near Carlisle, twenty miles north of here, changed hands the largest coal deal ever made in the state was closed, and 251 farmers were notified that the coal underlying their lands had been sold, and the purchasers, a company composed of New York and Chicago capitalists, would cash the options at once and develop the coal.

The holding of the Fairbanks Coal company and other tracts heretofore sold are included in the deal, and with the later purchase, makes a total exceeding 10,000 acres. One provision of the deal is that the buyers are to have eight modern mines in operation within two years.

Natural Gas Merger Proposed.

Noblesville, Ind., Jan. 1.—C. R. Heath, president of the Noblesville Gas and Improvement company, is at Tipton arranging the details for the purchase of the Tipton Gas company, which supplies the city of Tipton with natural gas. It is said the new company will control the supply of natural gas in Noblesville, Tipton, Sheridan, Westfield, Carmel, Zionsville, Lapel, Lebanon and Windfall.

An Interesting Proposition

Austin, Tex., Jan. 1.—Governor Colquitt will try the experiment of working 500 penitentiary convicts upon the public roads of the state without placing them under armed guards or other surveillance. He says he believes the convicts will make no attempt to escape if placed on their honor not to do so.

SCHOOL BOARD CITES THE LAW

Muncie High School Pupils In Deep Quandary.

MUST GIVE UP FRATERNITIES

If They Do Not They Will Be Barred From Graduation, and Just What Stand They May Take in the Matter Is Problematical—Effort to Enforce the State Law Will Be Watched With Interest.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 2.—Saying that no new pupils, no matter what their grades, will be graduated from the high school without first signing a statement declaring that they have not violated the Indiana law relative to membership in fraternities, sororities or other secret societies, the Muncie city school board has issued a statement to the pupils of the high schools. The statement is signed by B. F. Moore, superintendent of the city schools, and H. S. Peacock, principal of the high school. The pupils are given until Jan. 29 to dissolve present fraternity relations. It is estimated that one-fourth of the pupils in the Muncie high school are members of secret societies. Just what stand they may take in the matter is problematical.

Logansport Girls Don't Believe in Losing Any Leap Year Advantages.

Logansport girls are not backward about taking advantage of the privilege afforded them by the present leap year. A leap year matinee dance was held in the Elks' hall yesterday afternoon, and the girls escorted the boys, filled the programs and paid the men the little attentions which the fair sex had heretofore been receiving. The dance was distinctly a leap year affair, and many a young man who had heretofore cut quite a swath at the dances, found himself a wall flower. The girls did all the asking and for a man to ask for a dance was considered a breach of etiquette.

Terre Haute Postman Caught With Decoy Letters Leaves Town.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 2.—Elwood King, a letter carrier of several years' service, was caught with decoy letters and has left the city. For a long time mail has been missing from the "Nixie" table, on which mail is placed by the city distributors who cannot find the person to whom it is addressed. Because of the number of carriers who handle this mail, it was difficult to fasten the guilt on any one. The postal authorities wrote decoy letters and these were found in King's pockets. King took off his uniform, under which he wore civilian clothing, and disappeared.

MADE NO DEFENSE

Man Who Tried to Kill His Wife Entered Plea of Guilty.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 2.—Realizing that he could make no defense to the charge of attempting to kill his wife John E. Dillman of Warren entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge Fox. He was sentenced to the Michigan City prison for a period of from two to fourteen years. Dillman made a desperate attempt to kill his wife, shooting at her twice as she ran down the stairway of her apartments in Main street.

Child Burned to Death.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 2.—Charles Porter, aged four, was fatally burned at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Porter. The child's mother was calling on a neighbor. The little boy picked up a piece of paper and lighted it at the stove. His clothing caught fire.

Highwayman Invades Saloon.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 2.—Joe E. Alberts, when closing his father's saloon on Grand avenue, was shot, probably fatally, by a highwayman, who demanded his money. The man ran away and made no effort to go through Alberts' pockets.

Night Watchman Wantonly Shot.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 2.—Thomas Dixson, night watchman at the Giberson stone quarry three miles west, was called to the office door and shot and seriously injured by an Italian whose name cannot be learned. His assailant escaped.

Two Shot by Same Bullet.

Greensburg, Ind., Jan. 2.—Gilbert Nation was preparing to clean a revolver when it was accidentally discharged. The bullet passed through his right forearm and struck Edward Nation in the hip.

Fireman Perhaps Fatally Hurt.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 2.—A sixty-foot smokestack at the Modes-Turner glass plant fell and struck David Boyle, a fireman, perhaps fatally, during his work.

This Offer Should Gain the Confidence of the Most Skeptical.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. That's a mighty broad statement, but we mean every word of it. Could anything be more fair for you?

A most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. Their active principle is a recent scientific discovery that is odorless, colorless and tasteless; very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. This ingredient does not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or other inconvenience. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

If you suffer from chronic or habitual constipation, or the associate or dependent chronic ailments, we urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Remember, you can get them in Rochester only at our store. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Andrews Drug Co.

The fourth district Democratic convention at North Vernon last week was one of the three district conventions in the state which failed to pass resolutions endorsing Marshal for president. One Jackson county leader in explanation of the evidently intentional oversight says that Marshal had stated that if the Democrats of Indiana wanted him for president they could say so and he was taken at his word. Evidently the fourth district Democracy does not want him in spite of the fact that the governor's campaign is in the hands of Congressmen Dixon.

During the year 1911 county assessor J. B. Cross placed on the tax duplicate over $79,000 of sequestered property. Of course there are many instances where property is not given in through mistakes and misunderstandings and where the owners are not intending to wilfully defraud the city, county or state. There are however thousands of dollars worth of property regularly withheld from the assessor when the owners know it should be given in. A few prosecutions and assessments of penalties in cases of plain and flagrant violations of law would serve to lessen the amount of sequestered property.

John H. Kamman, Albert Kassing, E. P. Elsner, O. H. Montgomery, S. A. Barnes, James A. Cox, O. O. Swails, Mark Williams, N. Kaufman and E. E. Hamilton went to Brownstown today.

The mayor this morning fined Cleo Clemens and Ben Black each $1 and costs for intoxication. Stayed.

ITCHING PREVENTS SLEEP.

Eczema Sufferers Could Have Comfort Tonight.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Many persons around here suffer so much from Eczema that they cannot sleep at night.

Sometimes the terrible itching does not begin till bedtime. Babies and young children not only suffer greatly but their crying keeps parents and others awake.

Applying a little Saxon Salve, our new skin remedy, would quiet the itching right away and permit sleep. And still better, it is so reliable a remedy that it soon heals the eruption and leaves the skin smooth. Remarkable improvement is soon seen.

In all kinds of eczema, salt rheum, tetter, barber's itch, etc. Saxon Salve has wonderful healing power because it penetrates the skin pores and destroys the germs at the very seat of the disease.

Just 8,092 handshakes came Mr. Taft's way, according to the secret service man with the numeral register, who stood at his elbow. Last year only 5,600 people called to pay their respects, and the total for the last Roosevelt reception was only 8,600, or just 508 more than greeted Mr. Taft yesterday. If some of the president's friends had known in time that the attendance record was within their grasp they might have been tempted to round up enough of the floating population of Washington to make the Roosevelt figures go by the board. Not that it would have meant anything in particular, but just in a spirit of general rivalry and to start the New Year right.

But Mr. Taft is convinced that 8,092 handshakes are quite sufficient for one afternoon. He has not Colonel Roosevelt's faculty of getting there first with

GAEKWAR OF BARODA
Indian Ruler Who Snubbed Their Imperial Majesties.

DANDRUFF AND ITCHING SCALP YIELD TO ZEMO TREATMENT.

Why should you continue to experiment with salves, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not try a PROVEN REMEDY? One that will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDRUFF and ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO, a clean, refined, penetrating scalp tonic that goes right to the seat of the trouble and drives the germ life to the surface and destroys it.

A shampoo with ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC) SOAP and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Do not hesitate, but get a bottle of ZEMO today. It acts on a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it.

Sold and endorsed in Seymour by the A. J. Pellems Drug Store.

SNUBBED ROYALTY

Later Details of Baroda's Discourtesy at the Durbar.

London, Jan. 2.—More light has been shed on the conduct of the gaeckwar of Baroda at the recent durbar at Delhi, when the king-emperor took formal possession of his Indian empire. As recent dispatches have told, the Indian ruler, who ranks as one of the foremost of Indian chiefs, actually snubbed the king and queen when it came time for his recognition of their rulership. The gaeckwar is noted for his unconventional doings.

The advices just received state that the Indian ruler was dressed in plain white, more unceremonious than a "bearer" or butler. Instead of bowing deeply three times in a backward movement from the throne, the gaeckwar gave a curt nod to their majesties and turned his back to them.

A previous dispatch stated that the Indian ruler was made to apologize for his lack of courtesy.

BIG LINE OF CALLERS GREETED PRESIDENT

Mr. Taft Shook Hands of More Than 8,000.

Washington, Jan. 2.—When bedtime came last night President Taft was very glad. He was tired all over, his arm ached from finger tips to shoulder, and the good right hand with which he signs bills and other things was considerably swollen, but he ended the day with the comforting knowledge that his New Year's reception had been a big success; that the attendance had broken all records for similar affairs in his administration and had almost equalled the figures for the last Roosevelt reception, when the colonel was leaving for private life and darkest Africa, and lots of folks were giving the lion absent treatment and wondering if the sleeping sickness really was as catching as the medical sharps tried to make out.

Just 8,092 handshakes came Mr. Taft's way, according to the secret service man with the numeral register, who stood at his elbow. STARTS PICTURE SHOW

UNCLE SAM TO EXHIBIT THE NATION'S ACTIVITIES.

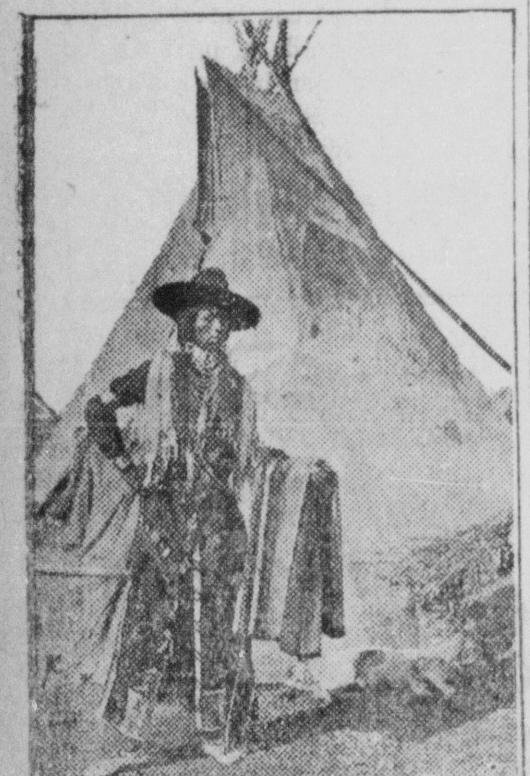

Soon Will Have Thousands of Films Passing Back and Forth Over the Entire Country—An Educational Movement.

Uncle Sam has entered the moving picture game with the greatest show of them all. He has started in a small way, but in a short while will have thousands of films passing back and forth over the entire country, being exhibited at every picture show in the land. And all of them will illustrate what he is doing for the benefit of his people. He believes in the saying "I'm from Missouri; show me," and he intends to show you and reproduce in moving pictures all the various activities of the nation.

Marines at work on battleships, gunners firing at the bulk of an old vessel, cavalry drills, mine and rescue work, plant and animal industry, road building, work among the Indians, and many other things will be shown on the canvas. Uncle Sam's moving picture campaign will also include illustrations of his health crusade in various sections. The government has already used moving pictures in teaching the Filipinos the difference between the right and the wrong way of living, with such great success that a moving picture campaign has just been started to show his coppery wards—the Indians in the United States—how they should live.

Dr. Ferdinand P. Shoemaker, who has active charge of the work in the field among the Indians, in a report on the moving picture campaign, written for this article, said: "One of the most conspicuous results of the work so far has been the great interest that has been awakened among the Indians.

Indians Depicted in Pictures.

The subject matter of the illustrated lectures has been followed up and the advice given has been adopted. The interest taken in the matter is shown, as the various reservations, by the many inquiries as to how they can obtain better home conditions, better houses, floors for their houses, larger and more modern windows, improvements in their food supply. Another thing that has been noticed has been a general house-cleaning, airing of bedding, etc., immediately following the lectures."

At one of the illustrated lectures given before a mixed audience of Cheyennes and Arapahoes a screen was erected in front of the grandstand and the Indians were seated so that the Cheyennes were on one side with the Arapahoes on the other. Two interpreters were used, each standing in front of their respective tribes and repeating the substance of what was said after each paragraph of the lecture.

Closely following the Indian bureau, the department of agriculture has begun active work along the same lines. The office of public roads was the first to have a series of moving pictures made, showing how public highways are improved, by the oil treatment of macadam roads, thus laying the stone dust raised by automobiles and prolonging the life of the roadway.

The effects of good and bad roads will also be shown. In the case of the latter, the film will show the farmer trying to carry loads of produce over a bad road; how he becomes sick; how the doctor is unable to reach him, and how, because of the mud ruts, the undertaker finds it exceedingly difficult to get him to his grave. Another film will show another farmer carrying his produce—twice as much—over a model road constructed under the supervision of the government and the general improvement of the surrounding country.

The agricultural department also expects to show, in an entertaining as well as instructive style, the effect of pure food and impure food. The war department intends to show the advantages of army life, while the navy department will follow with pictures showing the advantages of life on the bounding waves, and the interior department will teach how forest fires are fought and entombed miners are rescued.

Hard.

One of the hardest things in the world is to practice economy while spending some other person's money.

CHINESE WALL PAPER

It is said that the European notion of wall paper was imported from China. There its ornamental use for screens, partitions and the like was known as early as the fourth century. Authorities on this subject assert that it was Holland during her naval supremacy of the sixteenth century which first began to adopt and hang around the wall paper idea.

The early Chinese wall papers were printed from blocks, hand painted or stamped with infinite labor and exquisite art. They were made to order—produced in sheets of varying dimensions according to the uses to which they were to be put. The modern rolls of wall paper with a continuous duplicate design were unknown. It was not until the invention of the modern printing and stamping machines with cylindrical rollers that a continuous conventional pattern was favored.

As neither China nor Japan was a communicative country during the beginning of the commercial history of Europe these wall paper importations were few and far between and considerably at a premium. Yet they soon hit the European fancy as a good substitute for the arras and tapestries of the time.

Up to the end of the seventeenth century the imported product was prohibitive in price, however, and it was not until the middle of the eighteenth century that it was really a familiar thing on the market. When the methods for printing and stamping wall paper from blocks was introduced from China each nation was jealous of its neighbor in the wall paper trade and tried to keep its own process a secret.

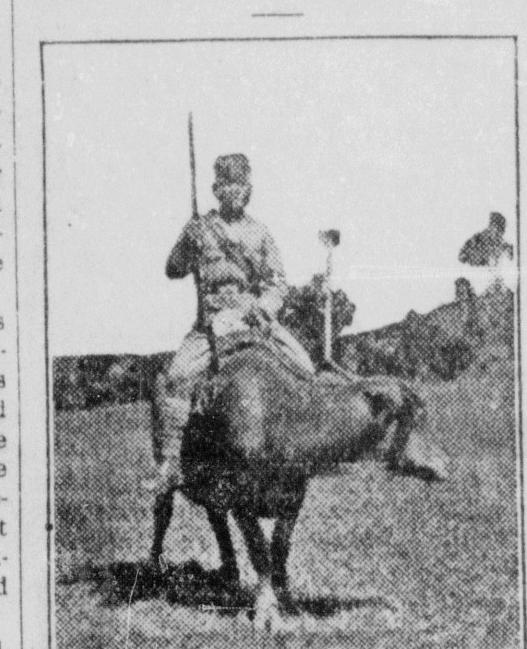

Toward the end of the seventeenth century the English were the largest importers of the hand decorated Chinese wall papers, but only for a short time. As the demand increased they began to perfect a process of paper stamping and paper decoration to imitate tapestries, and with improved machinery soon cheapened their product and popularized it all over Europe. By the time of the Stuarts the arras of Shakespeare's era was beginning to disappear.

SOME FACTS ABOUT TREES

The tallest trees in the world are the Australian eucalyptus, which attain an altitude of 480 feet. The biggest are the mammoth trees of California, some of which are 276 to 373 feet in height, and 108 feet in circumference at the base. From measurements of rings it is believed that certain of these trees are from 2,000 to 2,500 years old. The oldest tree in the world is said to exist on the island of Cos, off the coast of Asia Minor. It is several thousand years old, but just how many no one has dared to say. The tree is carefully preserved by a wall of masonry round it, and the trunk is 30 feet in circumference.

But there are parts of trees in the form of useful timber which are even older, probably, than any on the stump. Beams in old buildings are preserved today which are known to be over a thousand years old. Piles driven by the Romans prior to the Christian era are perfectly sound today, and it is known that they have been immersed in water for upward of 2,000 years.

MOUNTED POLICE OF BORNEO

Here is one of the mounted police of Borneo covering his beat. This force is maintained by the Chartered Company of British North Borneo, and the men, riding on buffaloes and carrying rifles, patrol a territory of about 30,000 square miles.

COMB OF PAPER.

The paper comb is a novelty which has made its appearance. It is made of smooth finished, hard cardboard. The teeth are coarse and far apart, but it is quite useful for combing the hair. The paper comb is one to be used once and then thrown away. It is designed for travelers, for use in public baths, and in various other places where now might be found combs kept for common use; in such places these combs might be furnished by the establishment free. It is not costly, the paper comb, put up in a waxed paper holder, being sold at retail at one cent.

MAN EATS NINE POUNDS

Chas. Winkelman of Lakeview, Ore., who is a big eater, and is proud of it, recently consumed nine pounds of solid food, one glass of beer and three of water in 58 minutes. The meal consisted of 32 beef and ham sandwiches, 16 pickles and 15 pieces of fruit cake. Winkelmann is 60 years old. He says he has eaten 16 pounds of food at one sitting.

SEASIDE

"Cardinal Cap

Photographed by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

The election of the three American Cardinals is responsible for this latest fashion, which can be worn during the entire performance at theater or opera without in any way obstructing the view of the one seated behind. It is made of gold wire and pearl beads.

FICHU IN GRACEFUL DRAPE CHOICE IN STYLE FOR HAIR

Pretty Idea That Might Be Copied by Those Desirous of Having Distinctive Appearance.

On a charming little frock too new to have been imitated as yet the graceful fichu was draped rather openly to show a vest or "tucker" of fine white batiste, the unique openwork stripes of which, running up and down, were simple rows where threads had been drawn and the open spaces even double hemstitched in black working silk. The neck edge of this was rounded, and oval eyelets of the same black working silk were threaded through with a little twisted cord of black silk, the tasseled ends of which fell to the knot of the fichu.

The turnback cuffs were of the same hemstitched batiste, but with the upper edges also double hemstitched, giving a rather severe but extremely up to date touch. A little panel of the same was let in the skirt, revealed by the side draping of the gown fabric, and the waist line was outlined by a cordeliere of black silk.

In addition to all these Oriental fashions there is a wide showing of the fourteenth century Italian caps, in keeping with the sleeves, the shoulder line, and the lace ruffles which are revived from the Italian period.

The caps are like those to which we once gave the name of Juliet; they are made of pearls, crystals, turquoise, and corals on a white satin or white tulle foundation. As pink is so much the fashion this year among the exclusives, although it is not widely talked about, one sees a good many of these caps made of coral beads strung on coral silk and mounted on a white fabric.

PRETTY EVENING WAIST

Fancy Gauze Hairbands.

Plain gold and silver gauze ribbons are largely used for fancy hairbands, says the Dry Goods Economist. Innumerable varieties of fancy bags are made of warp-printed ribbons combined with satins. Every type and size of bag is represented in the Christmas novelty ribbons, from the largest workbag to the daintiest of vanity bags that can hold only a powder-puff and miniature mirror. Gold lace, gold braid and ruches made of narrow ribbons shirred through the center are used as edge trimmings and to conceal seams.

Negligee Collars.

If you have sons who wear the soft double collars that will be worn all winter, you can make them yourself for very little expense.

Buy a linen collar pattern the correct size, or copy exactly a collar that pleases. One yard and three-quarters of heavy linen will make a dozen collars.

Interline them with coarse white muslin, taking care that the lining is cut the same way as the outside, so the collar will not stretch in different ways when it is laundered.

Novelty Boots.

In a line of high-class novelty boots there are silk tops with patent leather, champagne kid with patent leather, and brown suede cloth, a new material that looks like the real leather, also with patent leather. Various silks are used, such as ottoman and a finer corded weave, and all the boots have from sixteen to eighteen real pearl buttons. The foxings of these shoes are straight and the heels are an inch and seven-eighths Cuban.

This dainty waist is of pale pink mousseline de soie trimmed with bands of lace and with an embroidery in colors.

The little guimpe is of white mousseline de soie.

Attractive Negligees.

Even the realm of the negligee has been invaded by this craze for all things knitted, and among the delicate silken and lacy garments of this class are now to be found some attractive and very cozy matinees of worsted in white and pretty light shades.

Accordion plaiting is high in favor in negligees, as it preserves the slender lines while providing a desirable fullness.

The empire line is almost invariably seen in the Parisian negligees of silk and lace. The bodice part is of plain fabric and below a silken girdle a full length skirt of accordion plaiting is fastened.

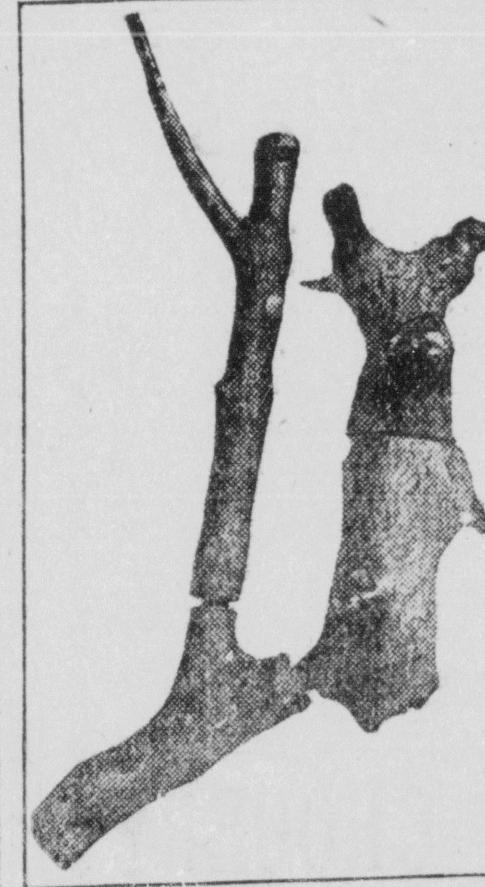

GREATEST OF CANAL LOCKS

It will be interesting enough from a topical point of view for the average reader who may have occasion to express himself upon the Panama canal to read up on canal locks, says the Chicago Tribune. Don't make the mistake of committing yourself to canal greatness as wholly within the "Canal Zone," for the longest canal lock in the world has just been built by the federal government at St. Mary's falls at Sault Ste Marie, Mich. This longest lock in the world measures 1,350 by 80 feet, with low water clearance of 25 feet.

This new canal, which parallels the old "Soo" canal from Lake Superior, lies to the north of the old St. Mary's falls canal, which had its origin when the state of Michigan dug the first "Soo" canal in 1855. In the early 70's traffic through the Michigan built canal had increased to such an extent that the federal government took it over and in 1881 had completed its enlargement to 160 feet width and constructing the Wenzell lock—still in use—515 feet long and 80 feet wide, with depth of 16 feet at low water. On the Canadian side are the Dominion government's canal and lock, but by far the greater tonnage has been using the American side, where the later Poe lock has had a length of 800 feet, width of 100 feet, and depth of 20 feet.

Now the greatest lock on the globe has been completed in the United States' new canal. Above the lock the new canal basin is 260 feet near the lock gates, widening away to a maximum of 500 feet, with uniform depth of 25 feet. The lock gates are 108 feet wide. The freight tonnage annually for the great lakes is 90,000,000, and is about one-sixth of the freight movement of the country. The significance of the canal lies in the statement that almost 70 per cent. of this great lake commerce passes through the several "Soo" canals, effecting a saving estimated at $250,000,000 over rail traffic.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH'S PIPE

It is said that this curious pipe belonged to Sir Walter Raleigh, who first introduced tobacco smoking in England, and that he smoked it on the scaffold just before his execution, handing it as a last gift to Bishop Andrews. It was exhibited, with this account of its history, by the Archaeological Society of England in the sixties, with the further statement that it is made of maple wood from Virginia, the colony which Sir Walter Raleigh founded. The bowl of the pipe has a cap, and a string of beads is attached to the stem, which is also furnished with a whistle. The pipe is carved with dogs' heads and the faces of Indians.

REAL FAMILY TREE

San Francisco has a complete genealogy of the Haida tribe of Indians of the Charlotte island, off the coast of British Columbia, as carved on a huge totem pole by the Indians themselves. This totem pole, a gift to the University of California by Mrs. Photo Apperson Hearst, has been placed in position in front of the affected colleges overlooking Golden Gate park. The Haida totem pole is 40 feet high and 3 1/4 feet through at the base. It is believed that the pole will last for ages. Many who were present at the ceremony admired the woodcarver's art as shown on the totem pole.

LUMINOSITY OF FIRE-FLY

Alfred C. Egerton points out in his physics notes in "Knowledge" that Coblenz and Ives have made an investigation of the light emitted by the firefly (Photinus pyralis). They find that the radiation controlled by the fly is all in the visible region of the spectrum—there appears to be very little ultra-violet radiation and no infra-red. The light is under control of the insect and does not appear to be stimulated by previous exposure to light, as with true phosphorescent substances. It is more probable that the light is due to oxidation of some complicated unstable fatty substance, the decomposition of which can be accelerated at will by the insect.

SWISS HAVE FEW HORSES

NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY

Story of a Pair of Most Remarkable Eyes.

Captain Leslie Coombs Bruce, 14, marksman, Read Time on Metropolitan Tower Clock When Nearly Six Miles Away.

By E. J. EDWARDS.

Capt. Leslie Coombs Bruce, who died recently after a brief illness which was presumably caused by his exposure to the sun while playing golf on one of the hot wave days of early July, gained a world-wide reputation ten years ago as the captain of the American rifle team which won the international trophy at the match held at Bisley, Ireland. He also enjoyed a high reputation as a rifle shot, having at one time held the championship of the American Rifle association. And he was noted among his friends and acquaintances for possessing a pair of eyes that were eagle-like in their ability to distinguish clearly at great distance objects that were literally invisible to the ordinary eye.

I once asked Captain Bruce if he had ever had any training in the matter of accustoming his eyes to distances and points in such manner as to take accurate measurement of them.

"No," he replied, "I never needed any instruction of that kind. Of course, I had to learn how to use wind gauges and various sorts of apparatus which are employed by long-distance marksmen. But even when I was a boy in Kentucky I was able to see far beyond the range of vision of any of my mates and to see accurately. They used to test me by putting up little objects a mile or more away upon a tree or wall, and I never failed the test. I suppose that it's some native quality of the eye which has always enabled me to meet like tests. I have been told by oculists that, while they have been unable to detect by any of their instruments any difference between my eyes and those of the average man, yet there must be some difference—a difference located, perhaps, in the nerve.

"One of the most amusing experiences of the many that I have had when friends were trying to test my eyesight and catch me in a trap occurred when I was returning one morning to New York city from a short visit to the country home on Long Island of one of my most intimate friends.

"The great clock in the Metropolitan tower had been set going only a few weeks earlier. My friend brought me in his automobile to the city, and as we were traveling between Jamaica and Long Island City I said to him:

"Why don't you set your automobile clock right? It is twenty minutes slow."

"How do you know that?" he replied. "You haven't looked at your watch."

"No, but I see the clock on the Metropolitan tower and the hands are now pointing to ten minutes to nine, while your clock reads half-past eight."

"You can't see the clock on that tower," my friend replied. "Why, we are nearly six miles away, and I can only just make out the top of the tower itself."

"I do see the clock and the hands," I said. "They point to ten minutes to nine. Now you may test me. We will see how long it takes to run from this point to the Blackwell's Island bridge, where it is easy for any one who is not near-sighted to read the Metropolitan tower clock. Then you will see whether I am right or not."

"When we were upon the Blackwell's Island bridge my friend told me that he could see the hands upon the clock. They pointed to ten minutes past nine. The hands upon his automobile clock pointed to ten minutes to nine. My friend looked at me in astonishment."

"Your eyes must be like a telescope," he exclaimed. "And I told him that others had made that remark."

The hour was 2 a. m. "Ah," groaned the journalist, "here's the office again calling up for a point of information that they might just as well look up in the dictionary."

"So sorry to disturb you," came a feminine voice which he recognized as that of a lady across the street. "It's shocking to call now, I know. But I can't get the doctor nor anybody. The baby is crying. And I thought you might be able to tell me what to do."

The Pool of Flame

CHAPTER XXV.

Mrs. Prynne roused out of her semi-stupor by O'Rourke's cry, with some return of her habitual clearness of thought, stepped to the companionway and called for her maid.

O'Rourke passed a hand over his eyes, and brought it away black with blood, but was no more than half aware of this. Dazed and heart-broken, he stared blankly round the saloon. Then he lay down on the deck, then, recovering slightly, saw Cecile join her mistress, and realized that, whatever his personal grief, pain and despair, he must play the part of the O'Rourke. So he turned and staggered down into the saloon.

Danny was in his berth, sleeping the childlike and loglike sleep that was ever his. Dravos, below, his ears deafened by the mighty chant of his engines, had been no more conscious of the drama on deck than had Danny. O'Rourke caught the boy with hands that gripped his shoulders cruelly, and shook him awake, then methodically booted him up the steps to the deck.

Once there, Danny came to his proper senses and fell with a will to his widdor, not if yer honor discharges me wid my usual month's notice, sor, this minute. Faix, didn't I see? No more and the anchor was down, sor, and yerself did to the world in yer berth, sor, thin them two does be after her. Dravos if ye do not believe me, sor. How would I be havin' it at all, widout I got it like I've told ye? . . . 'Tis the real Pool of Flame ye're handlin'; that's sure. “How do ye know that?”

“Aisy enough, yer honor; be puttin' the maid Cecile on the witness stand. Twas this way: I tuk the stone from Missus Prynne and Misther Dravos and mesilf locked her in her cabin. Thin after talkin' things over we let Cecile out and be dint av threats and persuasions, got her to tell what she knew.”

“Go on.”

“She sez that Frinchman ye kill back there in Algiers, sor, is at the bottom av it all, only he's not did because ye didn't make a cleane job av it, but lift him wid the laste suspition av the breath av life in the body av him.”

“I was afraid of that,” nodded O'Rourke. “The next time we meet, Des Trebes and I, there'll be no mistake about it.”

“She sez that before he fought wid ye he'd taken measurements av the stone and made a wax mould av ut,

“What business was that of yours?”

“Twas none, sor. But yerself had keeled over and was did to ivrything, and what am I for if not to look out for ye at such times? . . . So I'm after stoppin' them two just as they would be lavin' their staterooms, and sz'l, ‘Missus Prynne,’ sz'l, ‘me master's compliments and he'd like a word wid ye before ye're gone entirely.’ And ‘What's this?’ sz'l wid a fine show of surprise—the dayceyful buzzyl!—though I'm watchin' her and thinkin' she was frightened about somethin', from the white turn av the face av her. Sz'she: ‘Tis in the divle's own hurry I am the minute, or words to the same effect. Sz'she: ‘And phwat will he be wantin' av me?’ A momint's conversation wid ye, sz'l. And sz'she: ‘I've no time. Let me pass.’ I'll be doing,’ sz'l, ‘hawthine, like that,’ for be now I'm thinkin' there's somethin' deeper behint her fluster and flurry than a mere desire to bilk ye—pr'rhaps twas this thing intooishum I've heard ye mention. And the next minit I'm sure av ut, for she goes white as snow in the face and the eyes of her begins to burn like cold grane fire and she screams to Cecile for help and is after whipping out a gun to blow me out av her way wid; but ‘Us mesilf thot's be way av bein' too quick for her and takin' the pistol awa; and be the mercy av the Saints Misther Dravos hears the shindy and hops down just in time to snatch another gun out of the hand av that same Cecile, and he grabs the gurl and turns her into a stateroom and shuts the dure on her an’—”
